For Immediate Release

Toronto, Ontario (April 8, 2011) – Every year the Branham Group announces their annual list of the top 300 Canadian Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Companies and ADFLOW Networks has been included in the 2011 edition of the Branham300.

ADFLOW Networks Inc. will be appearing in the April/May edition of Backbone Magazine on the 'Next 50 Canadian ICT Companies' list in addition to the overall Branham300 listing. Backbone Magazine is distributed across Canada with the Globe and Mail.

"We are very excited and honoured to be part of this year's Branham300 list," said Katelyn Minaker, Manager of Marketing and Communications for ADFLOW Networks. "Everyone at ADFLOW has worked very hard to get where we are today and being recognized as one of the 'Next 50 ICT companies in Canada' is a fantastic achievement for us."

The Branham Group officially released the 2011 Branham300 list on April 5th and can be viewed on their website at <http://www.branhamgroup.com>.
